EDUCATION SPECIALIST CREDENTIAL PROGRAMS

Special Education

The Education Specialist curriculum meets the licensing requirements of the Commission on Teacher Credentialing. Preliminary Education Specialist programs include requirements in general education, core requirements including health education and CPR, and specialization courses including student teaching. The Education Specialist credentials meet standards for special education from birth to twelfth grade. The Preliminary Education Specialist Credential allows graduates to teach in their area of specialization for five years.

Admission Procedures

Admission to post-baccalaureate programs is based on the evaluation of applications to both the Department of Special Education and to the University. A minimum 3.0 GPA is required for admission to credential programs and must be maintained for continuation in the program. All credential applicants are required to apply to the Master of Arts in Special Education program plus the Education Specialist Credential program. If a prospective applicant already has a master’s degree, they may petition the department chair to be exempt from this requirement. Program applications are available online at: https://www2.calstate.edu/Apply. For application assistance, go to https://sped.sfsu.edu/content/apply-now.

Substitutions of course and field placement requirements may be granted when candidates have prior transcript credit and when the required skill, knowledge, and performance competencies have been mastered and verified. The department chair and faculty in the area of specialization review and approve requests for course substitutions. Courses requested for substitution have a 5-year limit.
