Advisors: Program faculty in the Department of Special Education

Mission
The mission of the Department of Special Education is to prepare leaders and professionals (e.g., educators, related service providers) to support inclusive educational and social participation of individuals with disabilities in collaboration with their families, schools, and communities. The Department of Special Education is strongly committed to human rights, social justice, and equal access for individuals with disabilities across the lifespan.

Program Scope and Career Outlook
The Master's degree and credential programs in the Department of Special Education include professional preparation in special education. The programs include preparation for specialists who may work in early intervention settings, schools, rehabilitation settings, or community agencies with individuals with disabilities. Resources of general education, psychology, counseling, and other human service related fields are utilized.

Minor in Special Education
The Minor in Special Education provides undergraduate students with an overview of the field of special education. An interdisciplinary program of required and elective courses ensures that students are exposed to a variety of courses pertaining to disability, inclusion, and social justice in our society. Competencies attained by students completing this minor have both a theoretical and practical nature and stimulate student interest in careers serving individuals with disabilities and their families.

Master of Arts in Special Education
The Master of Arts in Special Education is an individually designed program. This degree emphasizes research and leadership skills within a select program of study. The degree prepares individuals for employment in education in public and private agencies serving people with disabilities and in other related human service fields. Programs within the department provide students with an opportunity to learn from and participate in, on-going research, demonstration, training, and projects conducted by faculty. Program areas include autism spectrum, early childhood special education, mild/moderate disabilities, moderate/severe disabilities, orientation and mobility, and visual impairments.

Special Education Graduate Certificates
Certificate in the Autism Spectrum
This graduate-level certificate offers a specialized program of study for professionals seeking to gain expertise in supporting the unique needs of learners on the autism spectrum in diverse settings. Through participation in coursework that includes embedded field experiences, candidates will acquire applied knowledge of current theory, research, and practice to guide them in working with individuals on the autism spectrum from early childhood to adulthood. The certificate is designed for current graduate students or post-graduate professionals from a variety of disciplines. Candidates may include educators, therapists, advocates, family members, adults who identify on the autism spectrum, and others from a variety of fields and backgrounds.

Certificate in Inclusive Early Childhood Practices
The Certificate in Inclusive Early Childhood Practices offers an opportunity for students enrolled in professional programs or practicing professionals in education to pursue additional training in working with young children with special needs (from birth to five years) and their families. Further, the trans-disciplinary approach to this training makes the program equally valuable for related professionals, such as physical and occupational therapists, speech therapists, nurses, psychologists, and social workers. Graduates of the program may hold jobs in a variety of public and private early childhood education settings that include schools, hospitals, and government agencies.

Doctor of Philosophy in Education: Concentration in Special Education
Graduate study leading to the Doctor of Philosophy degree with a concentration in Special Education is offered jointly with the University of California, Berkeley (http://www.berkeley.edu).

The program provides preparation for people interested in a leadership role in research, policy, advocacy, curriculum development, administration and supervision, and teacher education. Check with the department for specific application procedures for each campus:

Admission to Graduate Programs and Certificates
The following two sections provide a general introduction to admission requirements and Written English Proficiency requirements for graduate programs in the Department of Special Education. Details regarding the joint doctoral program appear in the section titled "Education Doctoral Studies."

A minimum 3.0 GPA is required for admission to certificates and the master's degree in special education. Application requirements are available from the Department of Special Education: email: sped@sfsu.edu and website: sped.sfsu.edu (http://sped.sfsu.edu).

Certificate applicants must first be eligible in accordance with all university requirements as outlined in the Certificate Programs section of this Bulletin. This same section includes university program guidelines and procedures to be followed in filing for the award of the certificate when it is completed.

The following University requirements apply to graduates in the Master of Arts in Special Education.

Written English Proficiency Requirement
Each graduate student must demonstrate the ability to write English correctly and effectively at the graduate level. To assure that each graduate student has the required proficiency in written English, two distinct assessments are made by the major department: Level One and Level Two.
Level One
Applicants will be required to submit evidence of one of the following as part of their application for admission to the MA in Special Education:

- A score of at least 3.5/6.0 on the GRE Analytical Writing Test or GMAT Analytic Writing Assessment.
- A score of at least 4.5/6.0 on the essay test of the paper-based [PBT] TOEFL (a minimum score of 24/30 on the Writing section of the Internet-based test [IBT] TOEFL).
- A score of at least 6.5/9.0 on the IELTS writing test, or a concordant score on the Pearson Test of English.
- Passing status score of at least 220 on the CSET Writing Skills Test. (CBEST Writing does not fulfill this requirement.)

Applicants who do not meet this requirement may be denied admission. If all other areas of the application are strong, a faculty member may choose to file a petition with Graduate Admissions to request a conditional admission. If conditional admission is granted, the student will need to pass one of the tests listed above in the first semester of admission.

Level Two
Master of Arts in Special Education
Students will be required to complete one of the following options of the approved culminating experience, following advancement to candidacy. Note: Options II and III are by selection process only with an approved proposal (see program advisor).

Continuing Enrollment Requirement for MA in Special Education
If a student enrolls in one of the Culminating Experience courses, such as SPED 898, SPED 895, or SPED 894 to complete their masters degree, and does not finish his or her study by the end of the semester, or by the following semester (grace semester), he or she will be required to enroll in at least one course during each successive semester until completion of the culminating experience and a grade is entered by the committee chair.

Following a grace semester, if there is a break in enrollment before the culminating experience is completed, the student upon return will be required to retroactively enroll for semesters in between and must continuously enroll every semester thereafter until completed.

If a student is completing the master’s comprehensive written examination during the semester of graduation and has completed all degree requirements, they also need to enroll in at least one course. Students in one of the above situations can enroll in the following low-cost course available to meet this Continuous Enrollment Requirement:

- EDUC 499 College of Extended Learning
- Registration is online by visiting webapps.sfsu.edu/public/classservices/classsearch (https://webapps.sfsu.edu/public/classservices/classsearch) and accessing the Extended Learning Class schedule, locate EDUC 499 and proceed with enrollment.
- Academic Senate Policy on the Continuous Enrollment (https://senate.sfsu.edu/content/fulfilling-experience-continuous-enrollment-policy)

If a student is completing the master’s comprehensive written examination during the semester of graduation and has completed all degree requirements, he or she also will be required to enroll in at least one course.

Students can meet this requirement by enrolling in EDUC 499 through the College of Extended Learning (https://cel.sfsu.edu/register/forms)
