Program Scope
The Recreation, Parks, and Tourism (RPT) Department at SF State, in existence since 1946, has established a reputation for excellence. From distinguished faculty with extensive experience in teaching, research, and service, to a dynamic curriculum based on comprehensive feedback from students, alumni, current trends, and an advisory board of RPT professionals, students acquire the knowledge and skills to:

Engineer Experiences that Engage, Empower, and Educate.

One of the program’s most important resources for faculty and the curriculum is the diversity and vitality of the San Francisco Bay Area. The number of agencies, institutions, and leisure enterprises makes the region a hands-on classroom and living laboratory for public, private, and nonprofit recreation; local, state, and national parks; and domestic and international tourism.

Vision
A world where leisure permeates all facets of life.

Mission
To advance and advocate for the field of recreation, parks, and tourism through transformative education, scholarship, and service.

Bachelor of Science
The department offers a Bachelor of Science in Recreation, Parks, and Tourism Administration, which is accredited by the National Council on Accreditation of Parks, Recreation, and Tourism (COAPRT). Accreditation provides many benefits including credibility and broader recognition within the academic and professional community. The RPT program delivers academic content that is current, relevant, and experiential. The curriculum leads to a 400-hour, 15-unit, full-time internship at one of 400+ approved RPT organizations. This culminating experience often leads to continued employment and a career in RPT.

Master of Science
The Master of Science in Recreation, Parks, and Tourism develops leaders in the RPT profession and prepares students for an advanced degree (e.g., Ph.D.). The curriculum allows students to focus on their interest area within the field. Courses are taught by RPT faculty from three different California State University campuses who have a wide range of skills, interests, and expertise. Core classes are hybrid (partially in-person and partially online), which allows for geographical freedom and meaningful face-to-face experiences. To build a cohort with strong professional and social ties, students are almost exclusively accepted in the fall semester.

Program Competencies
The curriculum will focus on the following nine competencies, which all have assigned courses and associated program and student learning outcomes:

- Communication (professional, nonverbal, verbal)
- Foundations (philosophy, history, science)
- Information Technology (application, research, reporting)
- Leadership (ethics, intrapersonal, interpersonal)
- Management & Administration (finance, human capital, structures)
- Programming (design, implementation, evaluation)
- Profession & Industry (nature & scope, standards, trends & issues)
- Sustainability (economics, environment, equity)
- Wellness (dimensions, application, assessment)

Students wanting to receive a Bachelor of Science in Recreation, Parks, and Tourism Administration, a Minor in Recreation, or a Master of Science in Recreation, Parks, and Tourism should review the following website: rpt.sfsu.edu (http://rpt.sfsu.edu), then contact the Department where they will be directed to a faculty advisor related to their area of interest. Students pursuing a career in the nonprofit sector can also obtain a certificate in Youth and Human Services Nonprofit Administration. All RPT programs follow department and university policy, which include:

- All courses used in the major, minor, or certificate programs must be completed with letter grades (CR/NC option is not allowed).
- Courses that are required for the major, minor, or certificate programs must be completed with a minimum grade point average of 2.0 and a letter grade of C- or better [a grade of C or better is required in RPT 600GW Professionalism in Recreation, Parks and Tourism - GWAR – the department's Graduation Writing Assessment Requirement (GWAR) course].
- Students are required to adhere to all department and university requirements stated in this Bulletin and on the department website.

Career Outlook
Every year, millions of people spend an increasing amount of time in pursuit of beneficial recreation, leisure, and touristic experiences. As the world’s leading industry, recreation and leisure/tourism spending accounts for approximately one trillion dollars per year; this equates to one-third of all consumer spending. According to the Occupational Outlook Handbook published by the U.S. Department of Labor, the overall employment in the leisure/tourism and hospitality industry will grow 19% to 44% from 2010 to 2020.

There is a continued demand for full-time, trained recreation, park, and tourism professionals to assess, plan, implement, and evaluate programs and services in the public, for-profit, and nonprofit sectors within the leisure service delivery system. Thus, the recreation profession offers diverse employment opportunities for individuals who are enthusiastic, enjoy working with people, and have acquired the necessary professional skills. Although not exhaustive, the below list provides career categories within in the RPT profession.

- Campus - recreation, intramurals, wellness programs and facilities: Cal Recreation, SF State Mashouf Wellness Center, UCSF, . . .
- Corporate - employee recreation, social, incentive, and wellness programs: Apple, Google, Kaiser Permanente, Red Bull, Salesforce, . . .
The department also offers courses that satisfy General Education (GE) requirements, and a variety of activity classes, such as sailing and rock climbing, which are open to all students. GE requirements that are satisfied by a specific course appear in that course’s description; or see the General Education section of this Bulletin for a list of all approved GE courses.
