Program Learning Outcomes

1. Students will be able to express knowledge of human experiences, identities, and relationships, both between people and between humans and the natural world, in order to understand the world beyond themselves, within a framework that complements their major area of studies or avocation. (Knowing)

2. Students will be able to approach complex issues in the past from multiple perspectives, understanding causal relationships in a way that allows them to recognize alternate and resonant ways of being in the world across time and space. (Understanding)

3. Students will be able to organize evidence, communicate complex information, tell engaging stories, and persuade their audience using both written and oral forms of communication. (Communication Skills)
