

MINOR IN RUSSIAN STUDIES

The Russian Studies Minor at San Francisco State University offers an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the Russian language and to the cultures and politics of Russia and the Republics of the former Soviet Union. Spoken by over 166 million people in over a dozen countries spanning Europe, Central- and East Asia, Russian is one of the world's major languages. It is also considered a 'Strategic Language' by the US Government. The Russian Studies Minor combines instruction in Russian language with classes in culture, politics, and history and exposes students to the diverse cultural practices and political developments in today's Russia and Russian speaking communities.

Program Learning Outcomes

- Demonstrate at least novice-high fluency in Russian in speaking, listening, reading and writing.
- Manifest understanding of and sensitivity to diverse cultural practices that can be found in Russian speaking communities.
- Manifest understanding of historical and political developments that have shaped Russian speaking communities.
- Articulate various aspects of culture, politics, and/or history of Russian-speaking communities in English writing and speech and demonstrate presentation/ communication skills.
